These funds will include corporate shares of different market values in diverse geographies and sectors. The Fund Manager also intends to invest in initial public offerings (IPOs) listed on different stock exchanges, in addition to subscribing for capital increases of listed companies, as well as unlisted companies planning IPOs, by subscribing for planned IPOs, and investing in cash and cash equivalents in compliance with Shari'ah principles, to achieve long term growth and generate periodic income from the returns on equity shares and capital gain.

c) Definitions:

Standard Deviation

Standard Deviation is a measure of risk. It is calculated as any volatility in returns over a period of time. The lower the volatility, the more homogeneous the set of returns.

Sharpe Ratio

Sharpe Ratio is a risk-adjusted performance measure. It is calculated as the difference of the Fund Manager excess return over the risk-free rate, divided by the Standard Deviation. The greater a portfolio's Sharpe Ratio, the better its risk-adjusted performance.

Tracking Error

Tracking Error is a measure of risks. It is calculated as the Standard Deviation between the Fund Manager's return and the Benchmark's return. The lower the tracking error, the less the fund's performance deviates from the performance of the index

Beta

Beta is a measure of the average historical sensitivity of the Fund's returns compared to market returns. It is calculated by using the covariance of the Fund's unit price and the market index by the variance of the market,

Alpha

Alpha measures any excess return achieved by the Fund compared to the performance of the index.

Information Ratio

Information Ratio is a risk-adjusted performance measure. It is calculated as the active return of the Fund Manager, divided by its tracking error. The higher the Information ratio, the higher the Fund Manager ability to generate excess returns per Unit of excess risk.

d) Fund Manager's Commentary:

Overview of Global Markets

Global equity markets delivered a strong recovery during the second quarter of 2026, supported by improved investor sentiment, resilient corporate earnings, and more measured central bank policy guidance. The Alkhabeer Global Equities Index (AGEI) was up 12.22% during the second quarter. Despite the positive market performance, volatility remained elevated due to geopolitical developments and uncertainty around energy prices.

The U.S. economy continued to expand at a solid pace, with unemployment little changed at around 4.3% and headline inflation rising to 4.2% year-on-year in May, driven largely by higher energy prices. The U.S. Federal Reserve maintained interest rates at 3.50% to 3.75%, signaling a cautious stance in response to elevated inflation. European equity markets advanced as energy prices stabilized, although the region's growth outlook remained subdued. Emerging markets benefited from attractive valuations and robust earnings growth, despite lingering geopolitical uncertainty.

According to the IMF April 2026 World Economic Outlook, global GDP growth is projected at 3.1% in 2026, revised lower amid the geopolitical conflict, while advanced economies are projected to grow at 1.8% and emerging markets at 3.9%. Saudi Arabia is projected to grow by 3.1%, China by 4.4%, and India by 6.5% in 2026.

Looking ahead, geopolitical developments, commodity price movements, and central bank policy decisions may continue to influence equity market volatility. Nevertheless, should inflationary pressures gradually ease, energy prices stabilize, and corporate earnings sustain their current resilience, global equity markets could find meaningful support over the coming periods.

Fund Performance

Alkhabeer Growth & Income Fund follows a core-satellite investing approach, where at least 75% of assets are benchmark-aligned core allocation and the remaining allocation is actively managed through funds, IPOs, pre-IPOs, and money market instruments.

During the second quarter of 2026, the Fund achieved a total net return of 12.72%, outperforming the benchmark index (AGEI), which recorded 12.22%. Based on Fund performance attribution, the main sources of outperformance were the Fund's active allocation to funds and supportive positioning in the Energy, Consumer Staples, and Healthcare sectors. These positive effects were partly offset by underperformance in the Information Technology sector.

The Fund's positive alpha during the second quarter reflects the impact of these factors and confirms that performance was supported by effective investment allocation decisions and active portfolio management.

p) Equations Used to Calculate Performance and Risk:

Standard Deviation $\sigma p = \sqrt{[1/(N - 1) \cdot \Sigma(Rp,i - Rp)^2]}$

where
Rp,i = Portfolio return in period i
Rp = Average portfolio return
N = Number of periods

Sharpe Ratio $[(Average Annualised Return - Risk Free Rate) \div Standard Deviation]$

Tracking Error $TE = \sqrt{[1/(N - 1) \cdot \Sigma[(Rp,i - Rb,i) - (Rp - Rb)]^2]}$

Where
Rp,i = Portfolio return in period i
Rb,i = Benchmark return in period i
Rp = Average portfolio return
Rb = Average Benchmark return
N = Number of periods

Beta $\beta = Cov(Rp, Rb) / Var(Rb)$

Where
Cov(Rp, Rb) = covariance between portfolio and benchmark returns
Var(Rb) = variance of benchmark returns

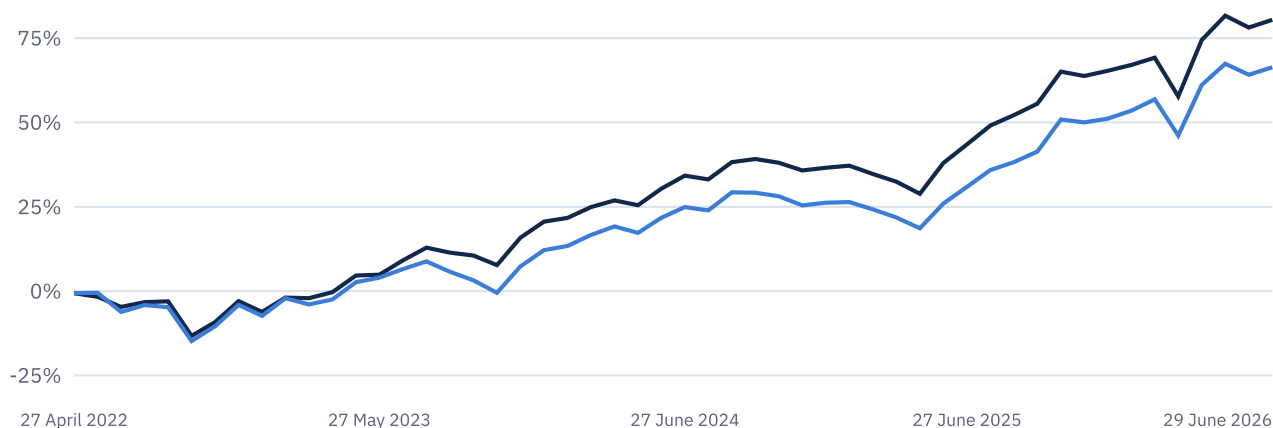

Alpha $\alpha = Rp - [Rf + \beta * (Rb - Rf)]$

Where
(Rp) = average portfolio return
(Rb) = average benchmark return
(Rf) = risk free rate
 β = portfolio beta
